Rejections based on 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 21-29 and 32-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Independent claims 21 and 32 state in the preamble that a “vibrating device” is being claimed, yet the claims set forth no structure for the “vibrating device.” The critical structure which makes up the device must be reasonably set forth. Sufficient structure capable of accomplishing the intended use of being secured to an impression tray must be set forth.

In claims 22-28 and 33-37, it is unclear what structural limitations applicant is attempting to impose upon the claimed “vibrating device” with limitations directed to the tray and material which are not positively claimed as part of the “vibrating device.” Applicant’s attention is directed to In re Rohrbacher, 128 USPQ 117 (CCPA 1960) for guidance in claim drafting.

In regard to claim 29, the preamble purports to be setting forth a “method of taking an impression,” however, no actual steps are set forth that positively lead to an impression.

Rejections based on Prior Art

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 21-29 and 32-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takemoto et al (US 4,162,576).

Takemoto et al disclose a vibrating device 6 that is removably attached to a dental tray 1M. The intended use of the unclaimed tray and the particular materials that applicant intends to use with the claimed device fail to impose any objectively ascertainable distinctions between the vibrating device disclosed by Takemoto et al and the vibrating device claimed. In regard to claims 32-37, the Takemoto et al tray 1M is used as a dispenser with treating material placed in the grooves 2 (note column 4, line 2). The particular material applicant intends to dispense from the unclaimed dispenser fails to impose any objectively ascertainable structural distinctions from the device disclosed by Takemoto et al. It is noted the claims are interpreted according to conventional claim construction law as exemplified in In re Rohrbacher, 128 USPQ 117 (CCPA 1960).

Prior Art

Applicant's information disclosure statement of October 17, 2005 has been considered and an initialed copy enclosed herewith.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 30 and 31 are objected to as being dependent on a rejected claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form to include all of the limitations of the claims from which they depend.

Action Made Final

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
